

SCENES OF SORROW.

Piteous and Heartrending Sights at Johnstown.

THE DEAD SEEN EVERYWHERE.

The Work of the Waters—In the Debris are Mangled Masses of Humanity—Some Human Monsters.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 3.—A sad and gloomy sky, almost as dark as gloom, and a heavy rain, fell all day and added to the misery of the wretched people. The great plain where the best part of Johnstown used to stand, is half covered with water. The few sidewalks in part that escaped the flood were four inches thick with black, sticky mud, through which tramped a steady procession of people. Women who are left utterly destitute are in towns where the people are housed who can't and may not find shelter, and they weep and sigh and groan. The towns of Johnstown have been a scene of horror. The people of Johnstown have been a scene of horror. The people of Johnstown have been a scene of horror.

FOOLS OR KNAVES?

The Uchristian Conduct of Two Christian Scientists.

MARRIED AT THEIR CREATION.

Mrs. Plunkett and Mr. Worthington—She Says Their Marriage was Preordained—The Plunketts Were Too Good.

Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch. "Will you apply to the courts for a divorce?" was asked. "I do not believe in going to law under any circumstances. I do not deem it Christian-like on my part to prevent her marrying another if she believed she loved him. I have invited her to keep the children because she asked for them. As to our property, I have always allowed her to take care of the money we made together. She must have now between five and twenty thousand dollars in joint funds. I have written to her asking for a settlement, but only received an insolent reply from Worthington. I shall not go to law to recover my property."

Run for Your Lives

The Warning that a Heroic Youth Gave the People.

GHOULS IN HUMAN FORM GO ABOUT

Pillaging in Johnstown—Thieves Fly Their Nefarious Trade in the Midst of Death and Devastation.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—Up to this morning the people living here who lost their families and parts of families hardly seem to realize what a dreadful calamity had fallen upon them. However, this morning people are getting to understand the situation and agony is stamped on the face of every one. It is truly a city of mourning. Tom bodies were taken out of the debris at 9:30 this morning. There was nothing to identify them as they were burned almost to a crisp. It is thought, however, that seven of them belong to one family, as they were all found under the roof of a house partly buried.

General Negley Makes Another Charge.

Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch.

How the Dam Broke.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—Four gentlemen, relatives of the members of the South Fork fishing club, who had gone to learn the fate of their friends at the lake, have just returned. They report no one at the lake except the custodians and some workmen.

MOTHER'S STORY.

She Tells How She Gave Each of Her Children to the Flood.

Robbing the Dead.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 3.—The commission-ers and police of Indiana, Cambria and Westmoreland counties will meet to-morrow at Ninetah to decide upon a plan for the burial of the dead. It is likely that a plot of ground will be selected just across the river in Cambria county, and the same will be purchased by the three counties, and one or two long graves will be made and the unfortunate ones buried there. Immediate action will be taken, as some of the dead have turned black and are rapidly decomposing.

Basin.

Chicago 2, Hutchinson, Sommers; Cleveland 1, O'Brien, Zimmer.

AT BALTIMORE.

Baltimore 7, Kilroy, Tate; Cincinnati 2, Van, Keenan.

AT KANSAS CITY.

Kansas City 9, Sullivan, Danahue; Brooklyn 6, Terry, Bushong.

AT PITTSBURGH.

Pittsburgh 1, Galvin, Miller; Indianapolis 0, Hoyle, Meyer.

AT WASHINGTON.

No game; rain.

AT COLUMBIAS.

Columbus 7, Widner, O'Connor; St. Louis 11, Develin, Milligan.

The Samoan Protocol.

BERLIN, June 3.—It is expected that the protocol drawn up by the Samoan conference will be signed on the 5th inst. The American commissioners are making preparations to leave for home.

Picking Up Bodies Everywhere.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—The streets have been full of men carrying bodies to various places where they await identification since morning, and the work has only just begun. Every hour or so forces of men working on the various heaps of debris have found a number of bodies buried in the mud and wreckage. It is believed that when the flames are extinguished in the wreck at the bridge that hundreds of victims will be discovered. In fact, this seems as certain as it does that bodies have been found on the outskirts of houses and broken timber. Reports from outside points are also appalling.

Shocking Sights have become so common that they have lost their terrors, and the finding of a body here and there attracts little or no attention from the great crowds that constantly line the river banks and crowd all other accessible places. W. S. Brown of Pittsburgh, of the American red cross, to-day notified Captain Kuhn, city solicitor, that the Pittsburgh masons are ready to aid.

A Pathetic Scene.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—The number of persons that searched the debris for plunder to-day is surprising. Poorly clad laboring men may be seen carrying away fine ornamental clocks and rich bric-a-brac. Fine pianos by the dozens are scattered along the river, but are rained.

Omaha Will Assist.

OMAHA, Neb., June 3.—The mayor to-day issued a proclamation calling on the people of Omaha for aid for the sufferers of the Pennsylvania flood.

The general manager of the Pacific Express company offers to transport over his company's lines all money and merchandise intended for the sufferers here of charges

President Harrison's Great Interest.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—President Harrison did not attend church to-day, but spent his time in communication with the flood-stricken districts with a view of granting them such succor as lay in the power of the government. General Schofield, acting secretary of war, came to the White House this morning, and he and the President repaired to the telegraph room, where they were put into communication with as many points and persons of the flooded district as possible. The President offered to extend to the people in distress any succor which the government could give. He said the government would supply as much coal as possible. The President assisted in the work of reclamation as possible.

Governor Beaver, of Pennsylvania, who was at Annapolis, Md., as a member of the board of the National Academy of Sciences, was communicated with and informed of the government's willingness to grant succor and relief. The governor obtained a special train and left Annapolis for Johnstown for the purpose of placing these offers on the part of the government before the people of the flooded districts. The President and General Schofield were reported to be telegraphing instruments receiving and sending telegrams until noon. After luncheon they spent more time in telegraphing, and at 2 o'clock the President rode out to the flooded districts. He and Mrs. Harrison then went to the telegraph office and stayed there for some time, the President assisting in the work of reclamation as possible.

Recovering the Dead.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—Ten bodies have been taken out of the wreck near the Cambria bridge, but they are so bruised that it is impossible to identify them. It is supposed that they were guests at the Hubbert house, which was destroyed by the flood. Eight bodies were recovered near the Methodist church.

Captain Johns, of Cambria county, claims that the entire party, which was a wedding party, was killed. The surrounding towns numbered 25,000, which will entail a loss of about 5,000. Mr. J. C. Campbell, of Altoona, Pa., and Mrs. W. J. Hughes, of Pittsburgh, have reported that the disaster for the relief of homeless children.

The Sioux Commission at Rosebud.

ROCKFORD, Dak., via Valentine, Neb., June 3.—The Sioux commission arrived at this agency yesterday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the first council until the 10th inst., in order to give those living at the more distant points time to be present. There has been a dance by the Omaha society at which several of some prominence made speeches, the tenor of which was favorable. This circumstance may indicate the growth of a friendly feeling, which was increased by a feast given at the close of the dance.

Spring Valley Mines Resume Work.

SPRING VALLEY, Ill., June 2.—After nearly a month's idleness, the Spring Valley Coal company started up yesterday. In the afternoon a large crowd of Belgian miners gathered at the mine, making threatening demonstrations, and in the evening the sheriff sent to Princeton for a posse. The situation looked so threatening last night that the sheriff concluded to send for troops. A detachment of militia were ordered out by Governor Fisher.

D. & R. G. Annual Election.

DENVER, Col., June 3.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Denver & Rio Grande railway was held in this city to-day. Among those present were George Coppell, chairman; Charles N. Deacons and Adolph Engler, of New York; D. H. Moffatt, president; E. O. Wolcott and J. W. Gilluly, of Denver. The annual report was submitted and adopted, and a new board of directors elected as follows: D. H. Moffatt and W. S. Chessman, of Denver; George Coppell, R. T. Wilson, Adolph Engler, Charles N. Deacons and Joseph B. Huse, of New York; J. L. Lobbs, Welsh and Edmund Smith, of Philadelphia. The only change in the board is the election of Messrs. Rank and Smith in the place of Messrs. Coppell and Engler, who resigned. The directors will meet in New York, June 6, when an election of officers will take place.

Wyoming Applies to Statehood.

CHEYENNE, June 3.—Governor Warren to-day issued a proclamation for the election on July 8, of delegates to the constitutional convention. The governor, secretary and chief justice had previously divided the territory into districts and appointed the delegates among the same. This action was taken in response to the request of the commissioners of nearly all of the counties in Wyoming, and is in accord with the views of the prominent citizens of that place, but the public intelligence to entitle it to immediate approval, and its people will earnestly appeal to Congress to that end.

Appointments.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The President has appointed Charles L. Knapp, of New York, consul-general at Montreal; Alexander Reed, of Wisconsin, consul at Dublin.

California to the Rescue.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Governor Waterman and Mayor Pond, of this city, have issued proclamations calling on the people of the state to aid the sufferers from the flood in Pennsylvania.

English Views of the Disaster.

LONDON, June 3.—The Daily News, discussing the danger of artificial lakes, says: "America, where everything is on a scale of vastness which we cannot experience, seems destined to suffer the calamities of civilization, as it exhibits its triumphs, on the one hand, and its miseries, on the other. The whole civilized world will be with the people of Pennsylvania in the saddest, most striking and most overwhelming misfortune since ever befell a people of the English race."

Other morning dailies refer to the disaster in a similar strain.

Where the Bodies Are.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—A hundred bodies are lying on the sand at Kernville this afternoon. A crowd of 5,000 is gathered around trying to find the bodies of friends or relatives. There are no coffins there, however. Five hundred coffins are on the way here, and the undertakers have sent for 300 additional. Kernville has now sent for 100 more. Coffins are being ordered from all over the country. It is thought that most of the bodies will be found under a pile of debris about an acre in length. Rain is falling, and the water is rising with the work. Most of the rescuing parties have been up two days. The fire at the bridge is almost extinguished, and the task of getting at the bodies under the burning debris will be commenced in earnest.

Philadelphia's Best Information.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—The best information that can be obtained to-day at the Pennsylvania railroad office in this city is that thirty-six bodies have been found, and more of the east and westbound passengers laid up at this place an opportunity to get away. It is also stated that only seven passengers of the ill-fated train were lost.

On the main line of the main line the road is clear from Altoona to Pittsburgh. From Huntington to Manatung bridge there are several bad breaks. All but one span of the Manatung bridge have been swept away. East of that point the bridge is gone and but one span remains on to Gunville bridge. From Altoona westward on the main line, the track is open to within a mile of South Fork, where the bridge was washed away Friday. Between South Fork and Johnstown 1,000 men are busy putting the railroad in shape. At Johnstown and west of there several large gangs of workmen are employed.

It is not believed that passengers can be conveyed from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh by any route inside of a week or ten days; and as to the transportation of freight and mail nothing definite can be learned. No direct intelligence of any sort has been received from the city since 9 o'clock Friday night. A dispatch then received stated that the lumber boom had broken and the town was flooded. The wildest kind of rumors are received in regard to the situation at that place, but no confirmation. It is believed, however, that the loss of property at that place will be enormous.

To Save the Living.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The Masonic relief committee telegraphed the President this afternoon urging the appointment of a national committee to take charge of sanitary affairs at the scene of disaster. It was urged that the presence of so many decaying corpses would breed pestilence there, besides polluting the water of the stream, thus affecting all the country between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. President Harrison conferred with General Schofield, and shortly after Surgeon-General Henshaw was summoned to take part in the conference. The fact was developed that the national sanitary congress, if such it may be called, is composed of physicians from all the various points. Dr. Atkinson would confer with and assist the Pennsylvania state board of health in any measures it might institute for the public health and safety, and Surgeon-General Hamilton

Even those who came from neighboring towns with an idea of the day's strange and ghastly experience did not care to be near after they had seen one body exposed. There were hundreds and thousands of these "visitors from the country to-day. The streets of Johnstown were a scene of horror. The streets were beginning to be full of boisterous and noisy countrymen, who were trying to connect the streets on the mountains to Johnstown. Mr. Harton and the passengers are waiting for the Pennsylvania road to resume operations. On receipt of this news Adjutant-General Hastings forwarded it to the President.

Johnny Griffin and Tommy Warren.

BOSTON, June 2.—Johnny Griffin, sporting, featherweight who surprised spectators by defeating Jack Havlin in remarkably quick time, has been selected to go to Johnstown. As the bodies are being buried, it was understood that the winner, Griffin, would be selected by the California club as the man to meet Warren and he will be sent at once.

English Views of the Disaster.

LONDON, June 3.—The Daily News, discussing the danger of artificial lakes, says: "America, where everything is on a scale of vastness which we cannot experience, seems destined to suffer the calamities of civilization, as it exhibits its triumphs, on the one hand, and its miseries, on the other. The whole civilized world will be with the people of Pennsylvania in the saddest, most striking and most overwhelming misfortune since ever befell a people of the English race."

Other morning dailies refer to the disaster in a similar strain.

Where the Bodies Are.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—A hundred bodies are lying on the sand at Kernville this afternoon. A crowd of 5,000 is gathered around trying to find the bodies of friends or relatives. There are no coffins there, however. Five hundred coffins are on the way here, and the undertakers have sent for 300 additional. Kernville has now sent for 100 more. Coffins are being ordered from all over the country. It is thought that most of the bodies will be found under a pile of debris about an acre in length. Rain is falling, and the water is rising with the work. Most of the rescuing parties have been up two days. The fire at the bridge is almost extinguished, and the task of getting at the bodies under the burning debris will be commenced in earnest.

Philadelphia's Best Information.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—The best information that can be obtained to-day at the Pennsylvania railroad office in this city is that thirty-six bodies have been found, and more of the east and westbound passengers laid up at this place an opportunity to get away. It is also stated that only seven passengers of the ill-fated train were lost.

On the main line of the main line the road is clear from Altoona to Pittsburgh. From Huntington to Manatung bridge there are several bad breaks. All but one span of the Manatung bridge have been swept away. East of that point the bridge is gone and but one span remains on to Gunville bridge. From Altoona westward on the main line, the track is open to within a mile of South Fork, where the bridge was washed away Friday. Between South Fork and Johnstown 1,000 men are busy putting the railroad in shape. At Johnstown and west of there several large gangs of workmen are employed.

It is not believed that passengers can be conveyed from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh by any route inside of a week or ten days; and as to the transportation of freight and mail nothing definite can be learned. No direct intelligence of any sort has been received from the city since 9 o'clock Friday night. A dispatch then received stated that the lumber boom had broken and the town was flooded. The wildest kind of rumors are received in regard to the situation at that place, but no confirmation. It is believed, however, that the loss of property at that place will be enormous.

To Save the Living.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The Masonic relief committee telegraphed the President this afternoon urging the appointment of a national committee to take charge of sanitary affairs at the scene of disaster. It was urged that the presence of so many decaying corpses would breed pestilence there, besides polluting the water of the stream, thus affecting all the country between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. President Harrison conferred with General Schofield, and shortly after Surgeon-General Henshaw was summoned to take part in the conference. The fact was developed that the national sanitary congress, if such it may be called, is composed of physicians from all the various points. Dr. Atkinson would confer with and assist the Pennsylvania state board of health in any measures it might institute for the public health and safety, and Surgeon-General Hamilton

Even those who came from neighboring towns with an idea of the day's strange and ghastly experience did not care to be near after they had seen one body exposed. There were hundreds and thousands of these "visitors from the country to-day. The streets of Johnstown were a scene of horror. The streets were beginning to be full of boisterous and noisy countrymen, who were trying to connect the streets on the mountains to Johnstown. Mr. Harton and the passengers are waiting for the Pennsylvania road to resume operations. On receipt of this news Adjutant-General Hastings forwarded it to the President.

Johnny Griffin and Tommy Warren.

BOSTON, June 2.—Johnny Griffin, sporting, featherweight who surprised spectators by defeating Jack Havlin in remarkably quick time, has been selected to go to Johnstown. As the bodies are being buried, it was understood that the winner, Griffin, would be selected by the California club as the man to meet Warren and he will be sent at once.

English Views of the Disaster.

LONDON, June 3.—The Daily News, discussing the danger of artificial lakes, says: "America, where everything is on a scale of vastness which we cannot experience, seems destined to suffer the calamities of civilization, as it exhibits its triumphs, on the one hand, and its miseries, on the other. The whole civilized world will be with the people of Pennsylvania in the saddest, most striking and most overwhelming misfortune since ever befell a people of the English race."

Other morning dailies refer to the disaster in a similar strain.

Where the Bodies Are.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—A hundred bodies are lying on the sand at Kernville this afternoon. A crowd of 5,000 is gathered around trying to find the bodies of friends or relatives. There are no coffins there, however. Five hundred coffins are on the way here, and the undertakers have sent for 300 additional. Kernville has now sent for 100 more. Coffins are being ordered from all over the country. It is thought that most of the bodies will be found under a pile of debris about an acre in length. Rain is falling, and the water is rising with the work. Most of the rescuing parties have been up two days. The fire at the bridge is almost extinguished, and the task of getting at the bodies under the burning debris will be commenced in earnest.

Philadelphia's Best Information.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—The best information that can be obtained to-day at the Pennsylvania railroad office in this city is that thirty-six bodies have been found, and more of the east and westbound passengers laid up at this place an opportunity to get away. It is also stated that only seven passengers of the ill-fated train were lost.

On the main line of the main line the road is clear from Altoona to Pittsburgh. From Huntington to Manatung bridge there are several bad breaks. All but one span of the Manatung bridge have been swept away. East of that point the bridge is gone and but one span remains on to Gunville bridge. From Altoona westward on the main line, the track is open to within a mile of South Fork, where the bridge was washed away Friday. Between South Fork and Johnstown 1,000 men are busy putting the railroad in shape. At Johnstown and west of there several large gangs of workmen are employed.

It is not believed that passengers can be conveyed from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh by any route inside of a week or ten days; and as to the transportation of freight and mail nothing definite can be learned. No direct intelligence of any sort has been received from the city since 9 o'clock Friday night. A dispatch then received stated that the lumber boom had broken and the town was flooded. The wildest kind of rumors are received in regard to the situation at that place, but no confirmation. It is believed, however, that the loss of property at that place will be enormous.

To Save the Living.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The Masonic relief committee telegraphed the President this afternoon urging the appointment of a national committee to take charge of sanitary affairs at the scene of disaster. It was urged that the presence of so many decaying corpses would breed pestilence there, besides polluting the water of the stream, thus affecting all the country between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. President Harrison conferred with General Schofield, and shortly after Surgeon-General Henshaw was summoned to take part in the conference. The fact was developed that the national sanitary congress, if such it may be called, is composed of physicians from all the various points. Dr. Atkinson would confer with and assist the Pennsylvania state board of health in any measures it might institute for the public health and safety, and Surgeon-General Hamilton

Even those who came from neighboring towns with an idea of the day's strange and ghastly experience did not care to be near after they had seen one body exposed. There were hundreds and thousands of these "visitors from the country to-day. The streets of Johnstown were a scene of horror. The streets were beginning to be full of boisterous and noisy countrymen, who were trying to connect the streets on the mountains to Johnstown. Mr. Harton and the passengers are waiting for the Pennsylvania road to resume operations. On receipt of this news Adjutant-General Hastings forwarded it to the President.

Johnny Griffin and Tommy Warren.

BOSTON, June 2.—Johnny Griffin, sporting, featherweight who surprised spectators by defeating Jack Havlin in remarkably quick time, has been selected to go to Johnstown. As the bodies are being buried, it was understood that the winner, Griffin, would be selected by the California club as the man to meet Warren and he will be sent at once.

English Views of the Disaster.

LONDON, June 3.—The Daily News, discussing the danger of artificial lakes, says: "America, where everything is on a scale of vastness which we cannot experience, seems destined to suffer the calamities of civilization, as it exhibits its triumphs, on the one hand, and its miseries, on the other. The whole civilized world will be with the people of Pennsylvania in the saddest, most striking and most overwhelming misfortune since ever befell a people of the English race."

Other morning dailies refer to the disaster in a similar strain.

Where the Bodies Are.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—A hundred bodies are lying on the sand at Kernville this afternoon. A crowd of 5,000 is gathered around trying to find the bodies of friends or relatives. There are no coffins there, however. Five hundred coffins are on the way here, and the undertakers have sent for 300 additional. Kernville has now sent for 100 more. Coffins are being ordered from all over the country. It is thought that most of the bodies will be found under a pile of debris about an acre in length. Rain is falling, and the water is rising with the work. Most of the rescuing parties have been up two days. The fire at the bridge is almost extinguished, and the task of getting at the bodies under the burning debris will be commenced in earnest.

Philadelphia's Best Information.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—The best information that can be obtained to-day at the Pennsylvania railroad office in this city is that thirty-six bodies have been found, and more of the east and westbound passengers laid up at this place an opportunity to get away. It is also stated that only seven passengers of the ill-fated train were lost.

On the main line of the main line the road is clear from Altoona to Pittsburgh. From Huntington to Manatung bridge there are several bad breaks. All but one span of the Manatung bridge have been swept away. East of that point the bridge is gone and but one span remains on to Gunville bridge. From Altoona westward on the main line, the track is open to within a mile of South Fork, where the bridge was washed away Friday. Between South Fork and Johnstown 1,000 men are busy putting the railroad in shape. At Johnstown and west of there several large gangs of workmen are employed.

It is not believed that passengers can be conveyed from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh by any route inside of a week or ten days; and as to the transportation of freight and mail nothing definite can be learned. No direct intelligence of any sort has been received from the city since 9 o'clock Friday night. A dispatch then received stated that the lumber boom had broken and the town was flooded. The wildest kind of rumors are received in regard to the situation at that place, but no confirmation. It is believed, however, that the loss of property at that place will be enormous.

To Save the Living.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The Masonic relief committee telegraphed the President this afternoon urging the appointment of a national committee to take charge of sanitary affairs at the scene of disaster. It was urged that the presence of so many decaying corpses would breed pestilence there, besides polluting the water of the stream, thus affecting all the country between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. President Harrison conferred with General Schofield, and shortly after Surgeon-General Henshaw was summoned to take part in the conference. The fact was developed that the national sanitary congress, if such it may be called, is composed of physicians from all the various points. Dr. Atkinson would confer with and assist the Pennsylvania state board of health in any measures it might institute for the public health and safety, and Surgeon-General Hamilton

Even those who came from neighboring towns with an idea of the day's strange and ghastly experience did not care to be near after they had seen one body exposed. There were hundreds and thousands of these "visitors from the country to-day. The streets of Johnstown were a scene of horror. The streets were beginning to be full of boisterous and noisy countrymen, who were trying to connect the streets on the mountains to Johnstown. Mr. Harton and the passengers are waiting for the Pennsylvania road to resume operations. On receipt of this news Adjutant-General Hastings forwarded it to the President.

Johnny Griffin and Tommy Warren.

BOSTON, June 2.—Johnny Griffin, sporting, featherweight who surprised spectators by defeating Jack Havlin in remarkably quick time, has been selected to go to Johnstown. As the bodies are being buried, it was understood that the winner, Griffin, would be selected by the California club as the man to meet Warren and he will be sent at once.

English Views of the Disaster.

LONDON, June 3.—The Daily News, discussing the danger of artificial lakes, says: "America, where everything is on a scale of vastness which we cannot experience, seems destined to suffer the calamities of civilization, as it exhibits its triumphs, on the one hand, and its miseries, on the other. The whole civilized world will be with the people of Pennsylvania in the saddest, most striking and most overwhelming misfortune since ever befell a people of the English race."

Other morning dailies refer to the disaster in a similar strain.

Where the Bodies Are.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—A hundred bodies are lying on the sand at Kernville this afternoon. A crowd of 5,000 is gathered around trying to find the bodies of friends or relatives. There are no coffins there, however. Five hundred coffins are on the way here, and the undertakers have sent for 300 additional. Kernville has now sent for 100 more. Coffins are being ordered from all over the country. It is thought that most of the bodies will be found under a pile of debris about an acre in length. Rain is falling, and the water is rising with the work. Most of the rescuing parties have been up two days. The fire at the bridge is almost extinguished, and the task of getting at the bodies under the burning debris will be commenced in earnest.

Philadelphia's Best Information.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—The best information that can be obtained to-day at the Pennsylvania railroad office in this city is that thirty-six bodies have been found, and more of the east and westbound passengers laid up at this place an opportunity to get away. It is also stated that only seven passengers of the ill-fated train were lost.

On the main line of the main line the road is clear from Altoona to Pittsburgh. From Huntington to Manatung bridge there are several bad breaks. All but one span of the Manatung bridge have been swept away. East of that point the bridge is gone and but one span remains on to Gunville bridge. From Altoona westward on the main line, the track is open to within a mile of South Fork, where the bridge was washed away Friday. Between South Fork and Johnstown 1,000 men are busy putting the railroad in shape. At Johnstown and west of there several large gangs of workmen are employed.

It is not believed that passengers can be conveyed from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh by any route inside of a week or ten days; and as to the transportation of freight and mail nothing definite can be learned. No direct intelligence of any sort has been received from the city since 9 o'clock Friday night. A dispatch then received stated that the lumber boom had broken and the town was flooded. The wildest kind of rumors are received in regard to the situation at that place, but no confirmation. It is believed, however, that the loss of property at that place will be enormous.

To Save the Living.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The Masonic relief committee telegraphed the President this afternoon urging the appointment of a national committee to take charge of sanitary affairs at the scene of disaster. It was urged that the presence of so many decaying corpses would breed pestilence there, besides polluting the water of the stream, thus affecting all the country between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. President Harrison conferred with General Schofield, and shortly after Surgeon-General Henshaw was summoned to take part in the conference. The fact was developed that the national sanitary congress, if such it may be called, is composed of physicians from all the various points. Dr. Atkinson would confer with and assist the Pennsylvania state board of health in any measures it might institute for the public health and safety, and Surgeon-General Hamilton

Even those who came from neighboring towns with an idea of the day's strange and ghastly experience did not care to be near after they had seen one body exposed. There were hundreds and thousands of these "visitors from the country to-day. The streets of Johnstown were a scene of horror. The streets were beginning to be full of boisterous and noisy countrymen, who were trying to connect the streets on the mountains to Johnstown. Mr. Harton and the passengers are waiting for the Pennsylvania road to resume operations. On receipt of this news Adjutant-General Hastings forwarded it to the President.

Johnny Griffin and Tommy Warren.

BOSTON, June 2.—Johnny Griffin, sporting, featherweight who surprised spectators by defeating Jack Havlin in remarkably quick time, has been selected to go to Johnstown. As the bodies are being buried, it was understood that the winner, Griffin, would be selected by the California club as the man to meet Warren and he will be sent at once.

English Views of the Disaster.

LONDON, June 3.—The Daily News, discussing the danger of artificial lakes, says: "America, where everything is on a scale of vastness which we cannot experience, seems destined to suffer the calamities of civilization, as it exhibits its triumphs, on the one hand, and its miseries, on the other. The whole civilized world will be with the people of Pennsylvania in the saddest, most striking and most overwhelming misfortune since ever befell a people of the English race."

Other morning